Cabinet approves Hate Speech & Hate Crimes (Prevention) Bill

BENGALURU

Karnataka Cabinet approves eight key Bills, including the Hate Crimes Bill, targeting hate speech, social boycotts, and digital accountability statewide.

The Karnataka Cabinet, chaired by Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, has approved eight major draft Bills, including the much-discussed Hate Speech and Hate Crime Bills. These Bills will be tabled during the upcoming Belagavi Assembly session.

A key proposal cleared by the Cabinet is the "Hate Crimes and Hate Speech (Prohibition and Prevention) Bill, 2025," aimed at curbing hate speech and hate-motivated offences across the state. The government intends to introduce a dedicated law to control hate speech, which often leads to communal tensions, public disorder, and threats to law and order.

The Bill also introduces accountability for digital intermediaries—including social media platforms, search engines, telecom operators, online marketplaces, and internet service providers—for harmful content hosted or circulated through their platforms.

Takedown Powers

Additionally, the Bill empowers district collectors to issue preventive orders in areas where communal disturbances are anticipated. Collectors may restrict meetings, rallies, use of loudspeakers, or any activity likely to provoke fear or hatred. Such prohibitory orders can initially be imposed for up to 30 days and extended to a maximum of 60 days if required.

Proposed Punishment

Anyone delivering hate speech can face up to seven years of imprisonment.The Bill also allows for a fine of up to ₹50,000 in addition to imprisonment, emphasizing both deterrence and accountability for spreading hate or inciting communal tensions.

Cow Protection Act amended

The Cabinet also amended the Karnataka Prevention and Protection of Animals (Cow Slaughter) Act, 2020, allowing seized vehicles to be released based on bank guarantees or indemnity bonds, easing burdens on small vehicle owners.

Putin must have authorized nerve agent attack

LONDON: A UK public inquiry has concluded that Russian President Vladimir Putin authorised the 2018 Novichok attack on former double agent Sergei Skripal, calling it a "reckless" show of power that caused the death of innocent bystander Dawn Sturgess. Skripal and his daughter Yulia were found unconscious in Salisbury after Novichok was applied to their home door handle. Sturgess died four months later after exposure from a contaminated perfume bottle. Inquiry chair Anthony Hughes stated that GRU operatives carried out the attack, which "must have been authorised at the highest level," and described their actions as "astonishingly reckless."

US deported 3,258 Indian nationals in 2025: EAM

"They have also conveyed that their policy of shackling deportees is followed to ensure the safety and security of all passengers on these flights. In the past, they claim that there have been instances of violence by deportees against fellow deportees and supporting crew members on such deportation flights." .

—S. Jaishankar, External Affairs Minister

NEW DELHI

The United States has deported a total of 18,822 Indian nationals since 2009, including 3,258 individuals so far in 2025, the Union government informed the Rajya Sabha on Thursday. External Affairs Minister S. Jaishankar, while responding to supplementaries, noted that 617 Indians were deported in 2023 and 1,368 in 2024. Of those deported in 2025, 2,032 (around 62.3%) returned on regular commercial flights, while 1,226 (37.6%) arrived on chartered flights operated by US Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) or US Customs and Border Protection (CBP).

Jaishankar highlighted that the Ministry of External Affairs has consistently raised concerns with US authorities regarding the treatment of deportees, especially the use of shackles, with heightened concern for women and children.

He also pointed out the role of state governments and the National Investigation Agency (NIA) in addressing human trafficking, noting that Punjab accounts for the highest number of such cases.

India reported 18,822 nationals deported from the US since 2009, with 3,258 in 2025, as Jaishankar flagged concerns over deportee treatment.

The NIA, which has an anti-human trafficking division, has registered 27 cases, leading to 169 arrests and chargesheets against 132 individuals. Significant arrests include key traffickers in Haryana and Punjab on August 7, and in Himachal Pradesh on October 2. Jaishankar emphasized the government's commitment to tackling human trafficking and ensuring the welfare of deported citizens.

The Harjit Kaur case

Regarding the case of Harjit Kaur, a 73-year-old Punjabi woman, who was deported in September this year, Jaishankar denied that she was handcuffed, but said she was rather mistreated during her detention. Jaishankar said her matter was raised by them with the US authorities. "Whenever any flight with deportees comes, the deportees are invariably interviewed by the officials of the Government of India. In this case, our immigration officers have confirmed that she was not handcuffed.

A two-judge Bench, led by Chief Justice of India Surya Kant and Justice Joymalya Bagchi, directed states affected by the SIR to deploy additional staff to reduce the working hours of personnel engaged in the process. The court also ordered that when an individual has a specific reason for seeking exemption, the state government must consider such requests on a case-by-case basis and provide a replacement. Moreover, states are required to provide additional workforce wherever necessary. The apex court added that if other forms of relief are not provided, the aggrieved individual can approach the court for redressal.

The directions followed an application filed by Tamilaga Vettri Kazhagam (TVK) against the Election Commission of India (ECI), highlighting the distressing condition of BLOs, including suicides allegedly linked to work pressure. Thursday's hearing was part of a batch of petitions challenging the SIR process in states such as Tamil Nadu, West Bengal, Uttar Pradesh, and Kerala.

India's largest airline, IndiGo, cancelled 136 flights at Bengaluru's KIA over two days due to a compounded effect.

Thousands of passengers were left stranded after 136 flights operated by IndiGo, the country's largest airline, were cancelled at KIA on Wednesday and Thursday.

IndiGo has been hit by flight disruptions over the past few days due to various factors, including crew shortages following the implementation of new crew rest and duty norms, technology-related issues, and airport congestion.

According to the sources at KIA, 63 flights were cancelled Wednesday, and 41 arrival and 32 departure flights were cancelled Thursday morning. The situation was no different in other parts of the country as flights were also cancelled in metropolitan cities, including Delhi, Mumbai, Chennai, Kolkata, and Hyderabad.

IndiGo acknowledged that its operations have been "significantly disrupted across the network for the past two days, and sincerely apologised to customers for the inconvenience.

A multitude of unforeseen operational challenges, including minor technology glitches, schedule changes linked to the winter season, adverse weather conditions, increased congestion in the aviation system and the implementation of updated crew rostering rules, Flight Duty Time Limitations, had a negative compounding impact on our operations in a way that was not feasible to be anticipated. To contain the disruption and restore stability, we have initiated calibrated adjustments to our schedules, the airlines said in a press statement.

These measures will remain in place for the next 48 hours and will allow us to normalize our operations and progressively recover our punctuality across the network. Our teams are working around the clock to ease customer discomfort and ensure operations stabilize as quickly as possible. Furthermore, the affected customers are being offered alternate travel arrangements to reach their destinations or refunds, as applicable.

Several harried passengers posted about the delays on social media, and some said they were not refunded after they cancelled their tickets.

Meanwhile, IndiGo requested fliers to check the latest flight status at https://www.goindigo.in/check-flight-status.html before heading to the airport.

Karnataka plans big push for electronics manufacturing

BENGALURU

Large and Medium Industries Minister M. B. Patil on Thursday directed officials to prepare a vision document aimed at boosting mobile and electronic product manufacturing and design in the State, with the goal of attracting investments of USD 150 billion in the future years.

At his Vidhana Soudha office, Patil held extensive discussions with a high-level delegation led by Pankaj Mohindroo, Chairman of the India Cellular and Electronics Association (ICEA).

Speaking after the meeting, the Minister noted that the Union Ministry of Electronics and IT had announced an electronics components manufacturing scheme in April this year. The State Government is exploring the possibility of introducing a parallel scheme and is currently studying its feasibility. The proposal is still in the draft stage, and we welcome suggestions from ICEA, he said.

Patil added that Karnataka has significant potential not only in mobile-phone components but also in industrial and strategic electronics. Officials have been instructed to study the Union Government's scheme along with similar policies implemented by other States.

Pankaj Mohindroo said the Union scheme prioritises sub-assemblies such as displays and camera modules, bare components, and essential manufacturing equipment. He added that the programme offers performance-linked incentives and up to 25 percent capital subsidy. The Centre has earmarked ₹22,900 crore for the scheme, he said.

The meeting was attended by Industries Department Principal Secretary S. Selvakumar, Industries Commissioner Gunjan Krishna, and other senior officials.

> Minister MB Patil informed that, until November this year, the Union Government has cleared 17 investment proposals worth Rs 7,172 crore. These projects are expected to create 11,800 direct jobs and generate products valued at over Rs 65,000 crore.

Artist uses humor to bridge generational gaps in new play

BENGALURU

From the rehearsals of Kaapiz, Crypto and Chaos, humour is a way to reach out to a wider audience, according to Bengaluru-based theatre artiste Shilpa Bansal. In her new play, Kaapiz, Crypto and Chaos, she explores the messy and often hilarious ways generations try to understand one another. Developed with Theatre for Change, the play blends nostalgia with the present

We keep saying 'generation gap' like it's some huge chasm. But what does that actually mean in everyday life. shares Shilpa as she wanted to explore this question without resorting to moralising. In this story, the seniors talk about love letters, waiting at the postbox, and the joy of slow communication. Whereas, the youngsters counter that with emojis, dating apps, and breakups that happen on Snapchat before you even blink. The point is never to show who's right or wrong. The beauty is in how both sides are trying to reach each other from where they stand. That's where real connection happens, she explains.

According to Shilpa, authenticity isn't about grand gestures; it's about the everyday things that make people say, 'Oh, this happens in my house too. She says, Every scene is pulled from the absurd, funny, frustrating things that happen in all our homes. She cites examples that every household can recognise how the grandparents are always surprised by how something can come in 10 minutes.

"Everyone has had that one moment where you're explaining to your parents what the laughing emoji means, or why the skull emoji doesn't mean someone actually died, she says. These are shared experiences, that's why audiences immediately relate. The emotional pivot of the play is also rooted in everyday reality. "A senior citizen falling for a digital scam is very real. The cyber world can be frightening for older people. That vulnerability is very real, and showing it honestly helps build empathy, she adds.

People come to a play carrying so much stress, work pressure, family issues, heartbreak, disappointments. My job is not to add to that weight but to make them feel lighter, believes Shilpa. But sometimes, when you present something emotionally heavy in a serious way, people shut down. But if you wrap the same truth in humour, they absorb it willingly. One might realise something important about their own life while smiling — that's the power of comedy, she concludes.

Aryan Khan faces backlash for public misbehavior

BENGALURU

Bollywood superstar Shah Rukh Khan's son Aryan Khan has been accused of misbehaving in public. Aryan Khan was seen standing on the balcony of a pub in the presence of the sons of Ministers and MLAs. The silence of the police, who would have immediately registered a case if ordinary citizens had behaved like this, has raised many questions.

Aryan Khan, Minister Zameer Ahmad Khan's son Zaid Khan and MLA NA Harris were present at the scene. Harris had come to the pub with his son Mohammed Nalapad. When Aryan pointed the middle finger, Zaid Khan and Nalapad also responded with a smile. There are widespread suspicions as to whether this political connection is the reason for the inaction of the police.

In a metropolis like Bengaluru, such indecent behaviour in public should be taken seriously. Questions are being raised in the public sphere as to how right it is for outsiders to make fun of the people here and laugh at it.

Beedi demand increased in Parappana Agrahara jail: SP

BENGALURU

Give me a beedi, give me just one beedi, these words are now common in the Parappana Agrahara Central Jail. In Parappana Agrahara Jail, under the leadership of Superintendent of Police Anshu Kumar, illegal activities have been put to a standstill.

DREAM SHATTERED

A 'dream house' became trap for 45-year-old software professional

BENGALURU

The relentless pressure of a neighbourhood dispute, a looming civic notice, and a Rs 20-lakh demand he said he could not meet, a combination that pushed a 45-year-old techie to end his life inside the very house he was trying to build.Hours before his scheduled appearance before Greater Bengaluru Authority (GBA) officials, Murali Govindaraju was found hanging on the second floor of his under-construction home in Nallurahalli on Wednesday morning, leaving behind a 10-page death note accusing a neighbouring family and civic officials of driving him to suicide.

Murali, a software employee at ITPL and father of two minor girls, lived in Brookbond Layout, Whitefield. Police have arrested his neighbours Shashi Nambiar (64) and Usha (57) on charges of abetment and are searching for their son, Varun. The couple has been sent to 14-day judicial custody.

According to police, the contents of Murali's lengthy death note mirror the allegations in a criminal complaint filed by his mother, Lakshmi Govindaraju (61). She stated that her son had been harassed, tortured and repeatedly threatened by the Nambiars, who allegedly demanded Rs 20 lakh to stop accusing him of plan

She said Murali told her that

Wednesday was the deadline the couple had set.Murali had bought the 40x60 sqft plot in 2018 from a close relative of the Nambiars. The relationship soured soon after construction began, with Usha and Shashi repeatedly accusing him of deviation from the approved plan. Lakshmi alleged that when Murali refused to pay, Usha lodged complaints with BBMP officials, prompting them to visit the site frequently and harass him.On Wednesday morning, Murali left home around 6am, telling his family he was under pressure and that Usha and Shashi were torturing him.

He went to the under-construction house and killed himself.Police have booked the couple under Sections 108 (abetment of suicide) and 308 (extortion) of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS). A senior officer said preliminary inquiries show the Nambiars had filed multiple complaints since 2018, making Murali "run around BBMP offices, the police station, and local courts."GBA officials confirmed they had issued Murali a notice asking him to appear before them on Wednesday. "Usha approached BBMP alleging violations. After a spot inspection, BBMP issued a notice," the officer said.

"The couple allegedly demanded Rs 20 lakh to stop harassing him."Police said several locals have now come forward alleging that the Nambiars regularly filed complaints to extort money under the pretext of activism. "People in the area say many homes have faced similar harassment," the officer said. "We request all affected residents to file complaints."The friction between Murali and the Nambiars began soon after he purchased the land in 2018 — a conflict that, according to investigators, escalated over the years and ended with a devastating outcome.

MLA Demands Fair Compensation, Criticizes Agri Dept

Demanding Money Even for Farmer Relief Distribution: MLA Prabhu Chavan Expresses Anger

AURAD

Farmers are facing severe hardship after their crops were destroyed by excessive rainfall. It has been reported that some village accountants and assistants have demanded money from farmers even to conduct crop-loss surveys. Such officials must be dismissed, said MLA Prabhu Chavan.

Speaking at the quarterly KDP progress review meeting held at the Taluk Panchayat office on Thursday, he strongly criticized the misconduct. He noted that within the Kalyana Karnataka region, the Aurad constituency has suffered the highest damage from heavy rains. Entire crops have been wiped out, leaving farmers in deep distress. Yet, in some areas, surveys were carried out only for those who paid money, resulting in compensation being granted to a few while many received nothing.

"How can struggling farmers arrange money? How can anyone think of exploiting them at such a time? Corruption is rampant in several departments, and strict action is essential," he said.

Chavan also condemned the disrespectful behavior of certain agriculture department staff toward farmers.

He stressed that the department, which exists to support those who feed the nation, must treat farmers with dignity. Harassing innocent farmers and ignoring their problems is unacceptable, he said, calling for the removal of such staff and for the department to become more farmer-friendly.

He pointed out that many farmers still have not received compensation. With a large number enrolled in the crop insurance scheme, all must receive benefits. Assistance should also be provided to those unfamiliar with mobile technology.

Regarding the Jal Jeevan Mission, Chavan alleged that PDOs and officials have taken money from contractors and declared 'Har Ghar Jal' even though most works are incomplete and substandard. He demanded blacklisting of erring contractors and dismissal of corrupt officials.

Several taluk-level officers were present at the meeting.

Case Details:

On November 22, at around 10:30 AM, Sunitha Mohan Rathod of Daranayak Tanda, Srinivasa Saradagi, was standing near Om Nagar Gate to go for daily-wage work. Accused Kallappa and Santosh, who were working as construction labourers, approached her claiming there was plaster work and took her along. Near the Kendriya Vidyalaya, at Vajpayee Layout, they got off an auto and began walking. Santosh left the spot saying he would fetch tools such as a rod, putty, and plank. Taking advantage of the situation, Kallappa allegedly snatched the 3-gram mangalsutra from the woman's neck and fled.

To crack the case, a special team was formed under the guidance of DCPs Kanika Sikriwal, Praveen H. Nayak, and ACP Basaveshwar Hira. The team led by PI Chandrashekhar Tigadi arrested the accused after intensive investigation. Upon interrogation, the accused confessed to snatching the mangalsutra.

Kallappa further admitted to committing five house burglaries and one robbery. He reportedly had a relationship with a woman and had taken to stealing to fund his lifestyle. Santosh was found involved only in the robbery case. Around 70–80% of the stolen property has already been recovered, and investigation is ongoing. The accused have been remanded to judicial custody.

Police Commissioner Sharanappa praised the officers and staff involved in successfully solving the case.

Nursing College Students Struggle: Buses Ignore Official Stop

JEVARGI

Students of the newly established Nursing College, located on the first floor of the Mother and Child Hospital near Kattisangavi, are struggling with serious transportation issues. The college, situated 5 km from Jevargi on the Kalaburagi road, accommodates around 60 students and 13 staff members. Despite several important public institutions—such as the hospital, a travellers' lodge, the Agriculture Science Centre, and a community hall—being located nearby, buses passing through the route fail to halt at the college.

Hundreds of buses travel daily from Vijayapura, Shahapur, and Kalaburagi along this road. Yet students and staff face inconvenience as buses neither stop near the campus nor allow boarding from Jevargi bus stand. Students complain that conductors often deny entry, causing unnecessary trouble. Even when buses do allow boarding, drivers refuse to stop near the college, dropping students at Kattisangavi village instead. This forces them to walk nearly one kilometre to reach the college.

Following repeated appeals from the college principal, KKRTC divisional officials issued orders on August 23, September 18, and September 23, instructing buses to provide request stops near the Nursing College and SRE International School between 8–11 AM and 3:30–5 PM. However, drivers and conductors continue to ignore these directives.

The issue extends beyond this college. Students from Adarsha Vidyalaya near Channur, degree colleges on Shahapur Road, and the Government ITI also face similar challenges.

Salim Ahmed: Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar Are Like Rama–Lakshmana

BIDAR

"Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy Chief Minister D.K. Shivakumar are like Rama and Lakshmana. Whether they have breakfast, lunch, or dinner together, why should the BJP be bothered? Minor differences may exist within our party, but the High Command is there to resolve them. The BJP should stop searching for stones in curd," said KPCC Working President and Legislative Council Chief Whip Salim Ahmed, responding to a question from reporters.

He added, "The Siddaramaiah–DK Shivakumar breakfast meeting became a headache for the JD(S) and BJP. They spread rumours claiming the Congress party would split. What happened now? In our party, things don't happen the way Narendra Modi dictates everything single-handedly. We have a High Command. Tickets, ministerial posts—everything is decided by them. Protecting the interests of all communities is the goal of the Congress. The party takes decisions based on the time and the situation. Right now, our focus is the Belagavi Legislative Council session, where we will present the government's achievements before the people."

"Election Commission Has Become BJP's Commission"

"Today, the Election Commission has turned into the BJP's Commission. Just as the BJP misuses the IT, ED, and CBI, it is using the Election Commission in the same manner.

Preparations Underway to Restart Boating

ALAMATTI

9 Years After Suspension, the Facility Gets a New Lease of Life

Boating activities at the Silver Lake in Alamatti's Rock Garden—suspended for the past nine years—are now set to resume, bringing cheer to tourists.

Nine new boats have already arrived at the Rock Garden, and with all arrangements nearly complete, boating is likely to restart by December 15. The KBJNL Forest Department had originally launched pedal boating for tourists on April 21, 2006, making it the district's only boating destination at that time. It had quickly become a major attraction.

However, in 2016, a man drowned after falling into the nine-foot-deep Silver Lake while boating. Following the incident, operations were suspended. Due to various technical and legal issues, the service could not restart all these years, leaving thousands of regular visitors disappointed. With December–January considered peak tourist season, the revival of boating has brought excitement among visitors.

Boating Charges

A variety of boats—pedal boats, speed boats, kayaking boats, rowing boats, rafting boats, and char boating—will be operated. Ticket prices have been fixed at ₹50 and ₹100 per person, depending on the ride.

The tender has been awarded for ₹11.50 lakh per year, and the contractor will operate and maintain the boats. Mandatory safety measures, including life jackets for all riders, have been enforced, according to KBJNL officials.

MLC C.T. Ravi criticises 'distorted religious narratives'

Speaking at Datta Peeta, MLC C.T. Ravi accused extremist elements of misusing religion and urged communities toward mutual respect

CHIKKAMANGALURU

MLC C.T. Ravi on Tuesday launched a strong critique against what he described as distorted and divisive religious teachings, asserting that extremist ideologies flourish when communities fail to emphasise shared values. Speaking to reporters at Datta Peeta, he said that certain radical elements misuse religious identity to sow conflict and fuel societal tensions.

Ravi stated that he had never heard Muslims use phrases equating divine forms such as Ishwar and Allah as a single spiritual entity. He claimed such teachings were neither emphasised in mosques nor widely promoted in religious schools (madrasas). According to him, had such inclusive messages been highlighted, there would have been fewer instances of extremist activities.

He contrasted this with what he called the Hindu tradition of affirming unity between Ram and Rahim, suggesting that this attitude fosters harmony. We do not object to acknowledging Allah as a form of God. Our tradition allows such acceptance, he said, urging people with narrow mindsets to adopt broader, more inclusive thinking.

Ravi further alleged that actions carried out in the name of Islam; such as forced conversions, violence, and attacks on religious spaces, were neither civilised nor religiously justified. He criticised what he described as attempts to take over the spaces of other faiths, calling such acts adharma and uncultured behaviour. According to him, destruction cannot be equated with religious duty under any circumstances.

Highlighting the cultural ethos of Sanatana Dharma, Ravi said it is a tradition that respects women and upholds dignity. He argued that any ideology endorsing exploitation or abuse of women cannot be considered a religion. Harshly condemning such practices, he described them as demonic traditions rather than spiritual paths.

K'taka enables direct maize procurement

Karnataka government has approved direct maize procurement from farmers by poultry feed producers to ensure better prices

BENGALURU RURAL

In a significant move aimed at supporting maize-growing farmers across Karnataka, the state government has issued an order permitting poultry feed manufacturers to purchase maize directly from cultivators. The decision is expected to provide immediate financial relief and improve market opportunities for farmers struggling with unstable prices.

According to a directive released by the Under Secretary of the Department of Animal Husbandry and Fisheries, poultry feed producers are now authorised to procure maize at the Minimum Support Price (MSP) standards directly from farmers. The order follows recommendations from the Department of Animal Husbandry and Veterinary Services, which suggested that direct procurement would help stabilise the market and prevent middlemen from exploiting farmers.

The development comes after a high-level meeting held on December 1, 2025, chaired by Chief Minister Siddaramaiah. During the meeting, discussions centred on the challenges faced by maize cultivators and the need to ensure fair pricing. The Chief Minister urged poultry feed and livestock feed producers to directly procure an estimated five lakh tonnes of maize from farmers in order to protect their interests.

Industry representatives present at the meeting expressed their willingness to cooperate, agreeing to source maize directly from growers based on their requirement. Acting on this consensus, the government has now formalised the process by approving procurement of 5,000 tonnes at MSP, with a mandatory advance payment of 20 percent to the farmers.

Officials said the new mechanism would not only ensure timely payments but also improve transparency in trade. By enabling direct sales, the state aims to minimise the role of intermediaries, ensure better price realisation for farmers, and maintain a steady supply of grain for the poultry feed sector.

The order has been welcomed as a good news measure for farmers, many of whom have been demanding a streamlined procurement system to safeguard their livelihood.

Boating set to resume at Almatti's lake after 9 yrs

ALMATTI

Almatti's Silver Lake in the Rock Garden, a popular tourist spot, is preparing to resume boating after a nine-year hiatus, much to the delight of visitors.

Authorities have already brought in nine new boats, and all arrangements are expected to be completed in time for boating operations to begin by December 15. The KBJNL Forest Department originally launched paddle boating for tourists at Silver Lake on April 21, 2006. At the time, it was the only boating facility in the district, attracting large numbers of visitors who came to enjoy the scenic location.

However, in 2016, a tragic accident occurred when a man fell into the nine-foot-deep lake while boating and lost his life.

A Kalaburagi man turned to theft to meet expenses of his live-in relationship, leading police to multiple crimes

Man turns to theft to fund live-in partner's demands

KALABURAGI

As modernity grows, lifestyle choices influenced by Western culture are becoming increasingly visible, especially in urban centres. While Indian tradition emphasises living together only after marriage, the concept of live-in relationships has become common in metro cities. However, in some instances, such relationships have also been linked to criminal behaviour—something that the latest case from Kalaburagi tragically illustrates.

Kalaburagi VV Police have arrested a 24-year-old man who resorted to theft to fulfil the wishes and expenses of his live-in partner. The accused, identified as Kallappa alias Sanju Somanna, hails from Gaur (B) village in Afzalpur taluk. Police have also arrested his associate, Santosh, who allegedly helped him carry out the crimes.

The case came to light when police began probing what initially appeared to be a minor theft involving three grams of gold. However, during interrogation, officers were shocked to discover Kallappa's extensive criminal history. Investigations have now revealed that he is an accused in six separate cases.

According to police, Kallappa took to stealing after struggling to meet the financial expectations of his live-in girlfriend. He reportedly carried out thefts along with a friend who worked as a daily wage labourer. After the stolen valuables were collected, they were sold with the help of his girlfriend, enabling the trio to earn quick money. Police officials expressed concern over the growing trend where emotional dependence and financial pressures in such relationships sometimes push individuals toward unlawful activities.

3 K'taka districts flagged as highest climate-risk zones

CHITRADURGA

Gadag, Haveri and Chitradurga districts have been officially placed in the 'highest climate-risk' category, highlighting the growing vulnerability of Karnataka's rain-dependent agricultural regions. The classification reflects the mounting challenges posed by erratic monsoon patterns, extended dry spells and rising temperatures — all of which are increasingly disrupting farming activities across North and Central Karnataka.

The alarming status was revealed by Union Agriculture and Farmers Welfare Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan in the Lok Sabha while responding to a query raised by Davangere MP Dr. Prabha Mallikarjun. The findings come from a comprehensive national assessment conducted by the Indian Council of Agricultural Research (ICAR) under the National Innovations in Climate Resilient Agriculture (NICRA) programme.

The study carried out a district-level climate risk and vulnerability analysis for 651 predominantly agricultural districts across India. Following protocols laid out by the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC), the assessment evaluated multiple parameters, including climatic variability, exposure to extreme weather events, adaptive capability of local communities and the sensitivity of the agricultural sector.

Officials note that the three Karnataka districts have long relied on rain-fed cultivation, making them particularly sensitive to any disruption in seasonal rainfall. In recent years, unpredictable monsoon behaviour and heat extremes have magnified these vulnerabilities, affecting crop yields, groundwater availability and livelihood stability for farming households.

The government is expected to use the findings to prioritise targeted interventions under climate-resilient agriculture initiatives. These may include drought-tolerant crop varieties, watershed development, improved irrigation practices and farmer-centric adaptation strategies, aimed at mitigating the adverse impacts of climate change on the region's agrarian economy.

The identification of Gadag, Haveri and Chitradurga as high-risk districts underscores the pressing need for coordinated policy action to safeguard agricultural sustainability in the face of accelerating climatic shifts.

SHORT CIRCUIT FIRE

Short circuit fire destroys seven acres of sugarcane

BIDAR

A severe fire caused by an alleged short circuit reduced seven acres of standing sugarcane to ashes in Siddeshwara village of Balki taluk, Bidar district, on Thursday. The incident has left local farmer Sangamesh Taranalli shattered as an entire year of hard work and investment went up in flames within minutes.

According to villagers, the fire broke out suddenly and spread rapidly across the lush sugarcane field due to the dense and dry crop. Before neighbours and local residents could attempt to contain the blaze, the entire seven-acre farmland belonging to Sangamesh was engulfed. Visuals from the spot showed thick smoke rising as the crop crackled under the flames.

Sangamesh, overwhelmed by the loss, broke down in tears as he watched his crop cultivated through months of effort and significant financial input, being completely destroyed. Everything I worked for this year is gone, he reportedly said while lamenting the irreparable damage.

The farmer has blamed the electricity supply company (GESCOM) for negligence, alleging that faulty wires and poor maintenance in the area caused the short circuit. He expressed anger at the officials and demanded immediate compensation for the loss of his crop.

Local residents also echoed concerns about repeated complaints regarding damaged power lines in the region, which they say have not been addressed despite posing continuous risk to farmlands.

Authorities are expected to assess the damage, and the affected farmer has urged the district administration to intervene and provide relief at the earliest. The incident highlights the vulnerabilities faced by rural farmers, especially those dependent on standing crops, when safety lapses in basic infrastructure go unaddressed.

Admin initiates measures to improve SSLC Results

CHIKKABALLAPUR

District officials implement targeted programs, special classes, and learning materials to enhance SSLC results this year

The district administration is taking proactive steps to improve the SSLC results for 10th-grade students. District Commissioner P.N. Ravindra advised officials and teachers to identify academically weaker students and provide them with special skill-based interventions and focused classes to enhance their performance.

Speaking at the SSLC progress review meeting held at the District Administration Building on Thursday, Ravindra highlighted that the state curriculum's SSLC final examinations will begin on March 18, with 14,449 students appearing this year. Schools across the district have already completed teaching the syllabus, and revision classes are underway to ensure students are well-prepared.

Based on recent internal assessments, government schools recorded a pass percentage of 56%, aided schools 59%, residential schools 84%, and unaided schools 86%. If these trends continue, the district risks underperforming in the final SSLC results. To address this, 56 out of 111 government schools have been adopted by district-level officers, who are implementing strategic measures to boost results.

Additionally, in collaboration with Adani Group's cement plant in Tondabay, short textbooks based on learning assessment (LBA) methodology have been printed and distributed among students needing extra support. These books, designed with expert guidance, simplify the syllabus and help students understand concepts more effectively, thereby facilitating better learning outcomes.

Ravindra emphasized that no student is inherently incapable of learning; distractions in the surrounding environment and family conditions often affect focus. He urged strict monitoring of attendance and engagement, ensuring students devote full attention to practice exercises. Teachers are encouraged to use model question papers and focused teaching methods to guide students toward success.

District Chief Executive Officer Dr. Y. Naveen Bhat instructed that officers adopting schools should visit at least once a week to monitor teaching methods and learning environments. Greater emphasis should be placed on students at risk of failing, with systematic practice and remedial teaching.

The short LBA textbooks for the 10th-grade state curriculum were formally released during the meeting, with officials including Adani Group Plant Manager Prashant Deshmukh, District Panchayat Deputy Secretary Atik Pasha, and Deputy Director of School Education V. Ramesh in attendance.

THIRUVANANTHAPURAM

A major cyber-security breach has rattled Kerala's film exhibition sector after CCTV footage from government-owned theatres surfaced on pornographic websites and encrypted social media platforms. Assam CM salutes Indian Navy's courage and commitment

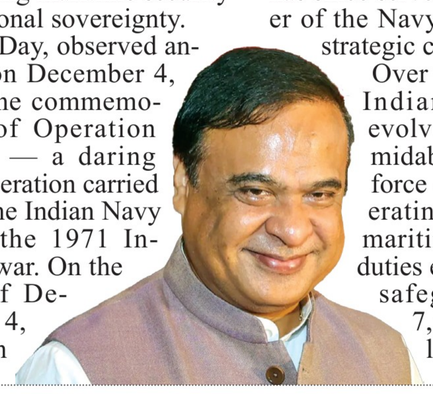
Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma honoured the Indian Navy on Navy Day, praising its courage and commitment to national security

GUWAHATI

Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma on Thursday paid heartfelt tributes to the Indian Navy on the occasion of Navy Day, lauding the force for its bravery, discipline and unwavering dedication to protecting the nation's maritime interests.

In a message posted on X, the Chief Minister wrote: On #NavyDay, we salute the courage, discipline and unmatched commitment of our Naval warriors who keep India's seas safe, strong and sovereign. From our vast coastline to the farthest oceans, our Nation stands proud of their unwavering service and sacrifice. His message resonated with the sentiments across the nation as people expressed pride and gratitude for the Navy's role in ensuring maritime security and national sovereignty.



Navy Day, observed annually on December 4, marks the commemoration of Operation Trident — a daring naval operation carried out by the Indian Navy during the 1971 Indo-Pak war. On the night of December 4, Indian missile boats launched a surprise attack on Karachi harbour, causing extensive damage to Pakistan's naval infrastructure and establishing one of India's most significant maritime victories. The day has since served as a reminder of the Navy's valour and strategic capability.

Over the years, the Indian Navy has evolved into a formidable blue-water force capable of operating across vast maritime zones. Its duties extend beyond safeguarding the 7,500-km coastline to protecting island territories, securing vital sea lanes of communication and fostering international maritime cooperation through joint exercises and defence partnerships.

The Navy also plays a crucial role in humanitarian assistance and disaster relief operations, responding swiftly to cyclones, tsunamis and emergencies within India and abroad.

In recent times, the Navy has accelerated its indigenisation efforts under the 'Aatmanirbhar Bharat' initiative, with advanced warships, submarines and maritime systems being developed in Indian shipyards.

M'rashtra grants legal status to digital land records

MUMBAI

In a major push toward transparent and citizen-friendly governance, the Maharashtra government has granted full legal validity to Digital 7/12 extracts and other essential land records, including 8-A and Ferfar (Mutation) documents. Revenue Minister Chandrashekhar Bawankule announced on Thursday that a government resolution (GR) has been issued to implement new Rules for Digital Land Records under the Maharashtra Land Measurement and Record Keeping Act, 2025. Calling it a massive leap in E-Governance, Minister Bawankule highlighted that citizens will no longer need to rely on physical paperwork or stand in long queues. There will be Trust Through Tech as extracts like 7/12, 8A, and Mutation (Ferfar) are secured with a Digital Signature, QR Code, and a 16-digit verification number. Talathi's stamp is not required. Anyone can get an official and verified extract for just Rs 15. The digital extracts will be acceptable for all government work. This is our commitment to transparency, speed, and ease of business, he said.

Maharashtra government has approved full legal validity for digitally signed 7/12 and related land records to boost e-governance.

According to the GR, the state has initiated implementation of the new Act by framing detailed procedures for measuring village land and preparing updated, authenticated digital land records. The rules standardise the process for record authentication, mandating digital signatures of Land Revenue Officers on official documents.

Citizens can now obtain or correct land documents through two methods: an online application via the official Mahabhumi Portal (digitalbaliraja.mahabhumi.gov.in) or offline through Village Revenue Officers (Gram Mahsul Adhikari) and Tahsildar offices. The government said this would significantly reduce manual processing and modernise land administration across the state.

The GR also explains the importance of the 7/12 extract, a combined record of ownership (Form VII) and agricultural details (Form XII), widely used in rural Maharashtra to verify land ownership, survey data, crop information and for transactions, loans and dispute resolution.

Delhi Police held a specialised workshop for Aerocity hotel security staff to boost anti-narcotics vigilance and strengthen coordinated enforcement

Police train Aerocity Hotels for anti-narcotics vigilance

NEW DELHI

Reinforcing the Centre's 'Zero Tolerance' policy on drug abuse and trafficking, the Delhi Police on Thursday conducted a dedicated training and awareness workshop for hotel security personnel in Aerocity, one of Delhi's busiest hospitality hubs.

The initiative, carried out by the Anti-Narcotics Task Force (ANTF) of the Crime Branch, sought to improve vigilance among private security teams and enhance coordination between law enforcement agencies and commercial establishments.

Officials said approximately 85 Chief Security Officers (CSOs) from 11 major hotels in the Aerocity zone attended the session.

The workshop is part of Delhi Police's broader campaign to curb narcotics-related crimes through strategic operations, grassroots awareness efforts, and capacity-building programmes. The training was led by ACP Anil Shram from the Narco Coordination Centre (NCORD) and Inspector Rakesh Duhan of the ANTF. Participants were briefed on the existing drug landscape in the Capital, including commonly trafficked narcotics, behavioural and physical indicators of drug abuse, and the primary source states that supply illegal substances to Delhi. Officers also highlighted the serious health impacts of narcotics consumption, stressing the need for collective vigilance to prevent and report any suspicious activities.

A key highlight of the workshop was the introduction of the MANAS portal (1933), a confidential reporting platform designed to allow citizens and private entities to share drug-related information securely. Officials demonstrated its functionality and underscored the strong anonymity safeguards, encouraging hotel security units to use the portal without hesitation.

To reinforce commitment to the cause, all attendees took the Anti-Drugs e-Pledge.

The initiative received strong appreciation from participants, including former ACP Abhirup Banerji, now Consultant Security with Delhi International Airport Ltd, and Naveen Sehgal, AGM (Aerocity Security). Both praised the proactive steps taken by Delhi Police to involve private security agencies in combating the drug menace in a high-footfall commercial district.

'Bengal has turned into 'no-go zone' for industries under TMC'

West Bengal, under the misrule of Trinamool Congress-led Mamata government, has become a no-go zone for industries, resulting in depleting investments and high unemployment, the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) said. Bengal is bleeding jobs. Bengal is losing investment. Bengal is being pushed 20 years backward. While other states are attracting global investors, West Bengal has become a no-go zone for industry under TMC misrule, observed BJP Information Technology Cell chief and the party's central observer for West Bengal, Amit Malviya, in a social media post on Thursday morning. He made the remarks referring to the recent statistics provided by the Union Ministry of Commerce on the flight of companies from West Bengal. According to him, West Bengal was witnessing a mass exodus of companies, and the situation is far worse than what the Trinamool Congress government tries to hide. Quoting the Union Ministry of Commerce figures, he claimed that while a total of 207 companies have left West Bengal in just the last six months.

TN govt challenges judge's order on Karthigai Deepam case

MADURAI

The Tamil Nadu government has defended its actions before the Madurai Bench of the Madras High Court, arguing that Justice Swaminathan had exceeded his jurisdiction in ordering that Karthigai Deepam be lit at the hilltop lamp post on Thiruparankundram Hill and directing the deployment of CISF personnel for security. The controversy began after a petition was filed seeking permission to light the traditional Karthigai Deepam at the lamp post on the hill, which is one of the six barrack areas at Thiruparankundram.

Acting on the plea, the judge directed that the Maha Deepam be lit at the hilltop and asked the temple administration to make arrangements. Although preliminary preparations were made, the temple authorities abruptly cancelled the arrangements. The withdrawal triggered protests by Hindu Makkal Katchi, Akhila Bharath Hanuman Sena, South India Forward Bloc, and other organisations, who marched demanding that the lamp be lit at the lamp post, as requested by the petitioner. However, following temple tradition, the Deepam was lit at 6 p.m. near the Uchchipillaiyar Temple on the hilltop, not at the lamp post. Unsatisfied, the petitioner and others urged that the Deepam be lit at the lamp post with CISF protection. Justice Swaminathan issued an order permitting them to proceed to the spot with security personnel. The order led to tense scenes. BJP cadres and Hindu outfit members raised slogans near the 16-foot hall and attempted to scale the hill after breaking barricades. Police intervened, resulting in clashes in which two policemen sustained injuries.

SIR IN WEST BENGAL

50 lakh names marked for potential deletion in WB

KOLKATA

In a major development ahead of the 2026 electoral cycle, nearly 50 lakh names in West Bengal have been identified for possible exclusion from the voters' list during the ongoing Special Intensive Revision (SIR) being conducted by the Election Commission of India (ECI). The revision process, which began on November 4, involves the digitisation and scrutiny of enumeration forms to update and correct voter records across the state. According to officials from the Chief Electoral Officer's (CEO) office in West Bengal, the number of names marked for exclusion has risen sharply in just 24 hours. While digitisation trends on Tuesday evening placed the figure slightly above 46 lakh, the count climbed to nearly 50 lakh by indicating an addition of around four lakh names within a single day. Of the total names identified so far, over 23 lakh fall under the deceased voters category, making it the largest segment flagged for removal. This is followed by more than 18 lakh voters listed under the shifted category. Additionally, over seven lakh names have been marked as untraceable, while the remaining cases include duplicate entries and other discrepancies requiring deletion. Election officials emphasise that these trends are preliminary, and the final number of deletions will be confirmed after the publication of the draft voters' list on December 16. This will kick off the notice phase, during which electoral registration officers (EROs) will issue notices, conduct hearings, verify claims, and process objections. The phase will run concurrently from December 16 to February 7, 2026. Subsequently, the checking of electoral roll parameters and securing ECI's approval for the final list will take place on February 10, 2026. The final electoral roll, earlier scheduled for February 7, will now be published on February 14.

Kohima Bench of Gauhati High Court launched its first official mobile app to improve judicial access, transparency and citizen convenience

GUWAHATI

In a landmark move for the region, the Kohima Bench of the Gauhati High Court has launched its official mobile application, the GHCKB App—making it the first High Court bench in the Northeast to introduce such a digital service. Officials announced on Thursday that the initiative aims to enhance accessibility, transparency and convenience in the justice delivery system.

The app was formally launched by Chief Justice Ashutosh Kumar of the Gauhati High Court, in the presence of Justices Sanjay Kumar Medhi and Arun Dev Choudhury, along with other senior officials. Addressing the gathering, Chief Justice Ashutosh Kumar praised the Kohima Bench's ICT team, noting that the app was developed entirely in-house and reflects the bench's commitment to embracing technology-driven judicial processes. Describing the GHCKB App as citizen-friendly, he emphasised that it provides real-time information, easy case tracking and improved access for both lawyers and litigants. The Chief Justice highlighted that the application would particularly benefit people in remote areas, enabling them to stay updated on court proceedings without physical visits. Stressing the importance of regular usage, he encouraged members of the legal fraternity to fully adopt the app, adding that technology has meaning only when actively and consistently used.

He also noted that the app is backward-compatible and can function on most devices.

Reflecting on his visit to the Hornbill Festival at Kisama, the Chief Justice spoke about the strong sense of brotherhood he witnessed and urged the Bar to carry the same spirit into their professional interactions. He further encouraged young lawyers to remain diligent in their preparation, recounting an instance where a young advocate promptly presented a required judgment during court proceedings.

Security forces killed eighteen Naxalites in a major Bastar encounter, though three personnel lost their lives during the operation

Security forces eliminate 18 naxalites in major operation

BIJAPUR

In one of the most significant setbacks to Maoist insurgency in the Bastar region this year, security forces eliminated 18 Naxalites in an intense gun battle in the dense Keshkutul forests of Bijapur district.

The operation, which began, saw the toll rise from 12 to 18 after additional bodies were recovered during Thursday morning's combing operations.

The encounter broke out when a joint force comprising the District Reserve Guard (DRG), Special Task Force (STF), CoBRA commandos of the CRPF, and local police launched an anti-Naxal offensive based on specific intelligence inputs in the Gangaloor police station limits.

As the team advanced, Maoists belonging to the People's Liberation Guerrilla Army (PLGA) Company No. 2, Bhairamgarh Area Committee, and Gangaloor Area Committee opened heavy fire, prompting a fierce exchange that lasted several hours.

Despite facing automatic weapons, IED threats, and being heavily outnumbered, the forces retaliated with precision, neutralising 18 Maoists on the spot. A substantial cache of arms and explosives was recovered from the scene.

Bijapur Superintendent of Police Jitendra Singh Meena said the identification process of the deceased Naxalites is underway, with names and ranks to be released once confirmed. Meanwhile, extensive search operations are continuing in the surrounding forest areas to track down any fleeing insurgents.

The encounter, however, came at a heavy cost. Three security personnel, Head Constable Monu Mohan Baddi, Constable Dukaru Gonde (posthumously promoted to Head Constable), and DRG Jawan Ramesh Sodi lost their lives while displaying exemplary courage in the line of duty. Their mortal remains were brought to Bijapur headquarters on Thursday, where solemn tributes were paid at the Police Line Shaheed Vatika along the Bijapur–Gangaloor road.

Pahalgam hotel faces action for concealing stay of foreigners

SRINAGAR

An FIR has been registered against a hotel in J&K's Pahalgam hill station for concealing the stay of two foreign nationals at the hotel, police said on Thursday. Police in Anantnag district said that the FIR has been registered against a hotel for violation of the Immigration and Foreigners Act, 2025.

A team from Police Station Pahalgam, during routine inspections of hotels and guest establishments in the Rafting Point area, found that Hotel Golden Heritage, Rafting Point, Yenner, had accommodated two Thai nationals without submitting the mandatory Form C, a police official said. The form, which must be filed online by all establishments hosting foreign guests, is a key component of the reporting and verification mechanism mandated under the Act, the official added. The hotel, police said, had concealed the stay of the visitors, a lapse seen as a serious security concern and a clear breach of statutory obligations meant to ensure proper monitoring of foreign travellers. Following the detection, FIR No. 79/2025 under Sections 8 and 23(b) of the Immigration and Foreigners Act, 2025, was registered at Police Station Pahalgam. Further investigation is underway, the police official added.

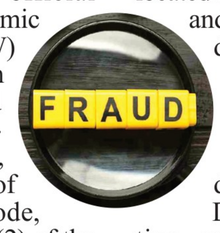
J&K crime branch files charge sheet in land fraud case

Jammu and Kashmir Crime Branch has filed a charge sheet in a major land fraud case before the Srinagar anti-corruption court.

JAMMU

The Jammu and Kashmir Crime Branch on Thursday announced that it has filed a charge sheet in a high-profile land fraud case before the Special Judge Anti-Corruption Court in Srinagar. aThe case, registered under FIR No. 79/2022, involves serious allegations of forgery, conspiracy and fraudulent mutation of land in the city.

According to an official statement, the Economic Offences Wing (EOW) of Crime Branch Kashmir submitted the charge sheet under Sections 420, 467, 468, 471 and 120-B of the Ranbir Penal Code, along with Section 5(2) of the Prevention of Corruption Act. The charge sheet names three accused individuals: businessman Habibullah Bhat, son of Mohammad Sultan Bhat and resident of Omarhair Buchpora; retired Naib Tehsildar Mohammad Rajab Reshi, son of Haji Ghulam Ahmad Reshi from Brein Nishat; and former Patwari Syed Khurshid Ahmad, son of Late Syed Mohammad Amin, resident of Watalbagh Lar in Ganderbal.



The case originated from a written complaint alleging that a fraudulent mutation was carried out for a 10-marla plot located under Khasra Nos. 467 and 468 in Zoonimar Eidgah, Srinagar. The mutation was allegedly executed in favour of one of the accused on the basis of a sale deed that never existed.

During the investigation, authorities discovered that no sale deed bearing Registration No. 1693 dated 08.09.2003 had ever been issued by the concerned Sub-Registrar. Further probe revealed that the accused businessman, in criminal conspiracy with the then Patwari and Naib Tehsildar, manipulated revenue records and fraudulently inserted mutation entries using the fabricated document.

NEW DELHI

Delhi Chief Minister Rekha Gupta on Thursday launched a pole-mounted mist spray system for dust and pollution control in the ITO area in the central parts of the Capital, an official said. She said that at ITO, nearly 35 poles have been equipped with mist sprayers. The government is preparing to install mist sprayers on 305 poles at nine hotspots where pollution is a very serious problem, said CM Gupta, referring to the constitution of a panel to tackle the city's pollution.

Each pole has five nozzles, and each nozzle has six tiny holes, enabling 30 spray points per pole. Every pole uses approximately 84 litres of treated water per hour, supported by four 5,000-litre storage tanks. A similar setup has been installed along a 900-metre stretch on Shanti Path and a 500-metre stretch on Lodhi Road. She said, This is a battle against pollution, and we need public support to boost the government's efforts. The government is ready to provide solutions to any pollution-causing factor. After using water sprinklers, we are considering mist technology, which is proving to be a very effective solution. We initially implemented it in some areas under NDMC, and the results were positive. Now, the Delhi government is planning to expand it to all major roads in the city, she said.

CM Gupta held a review meeting and said that any negligence in pollution control in the national capital will not be tolerated. She stated that her government is treating pollution as an emergency mission and is making determined efforts to bring it under control.

The Chief Minister made it clear that government institutions showing laxity in pollution control will not be spared.

MP to merge small primary schools: Min Uday Singh

BHOPAL

Government-run primary schools in Madhya Pradesh with fewer than 10 students will be merged with a nearby larger school located within a 1 km radius, School Education Minister Uday Pratap Singh informed the Assembly on Thursday. He said the step aims to improve resource utilisation and enhance student interaction. Responding to a question raised by MLA Amar Singh Yadav during the Winter Session, Minister Singh added that teachers from such under-enrolled schools would also be shifted to bigger schools to ensure optimum use of staff and infrastructure.

During Question Hour, Congress MLA Babu Jandel raised the issue of compensation for farmers for damaged crops in Sheopur district. He claimed that several farmers have not yet received the funds released by the state government.

Farmers in Sheopur district were supposed to get compensation of Rs 16,000 per hectare, but many farmers are yet to receive funds in their bank accounts, Sheopur Congress MLA Jandel said.

The State's Revenue Minister Karan Singh Verma, while responding to Jandel's claim, said that he would inquire into the matter personally to ensure that all farmers get compensation. He also accepted that some farmers had yet to receive funds in their bank accounts.

Notably, on November 27, Chief Minister Mohan Yadav had transferred Rs 238.78 crore to the bank accounts of over three lakh farmers as part of compensation for paddy crops damaged due to heavy rain a few weeks ago.

The fund was released to the farmers of seven districts, such as Sheopur, Morena, Harda, Vidisha, Narmadapuram, Dhar and Khandwa.

Meanwhile, the House is scheduled to debate the second supplementary budget presented on Tuesday by Deputy Chief Minister and Finance Minister Jagdish Devda. The Rs 13,476.94 crore outlay includes Rs 8,448.57 crore under the revenue head and Rs 5,028.37 crore under the capital head.

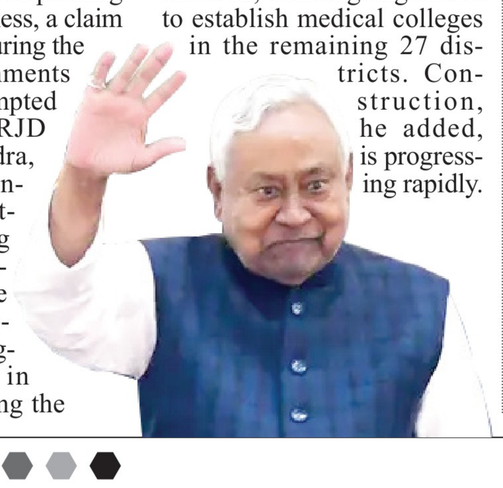
NDA ACHIEVEMENTS IN BIHAR

NITISH KUMAR HIGHLIGHTS NDA GOVT'S ACHIEVEMENTS

PATNA

On the fourth day of the winter session of the Bihar Assembly, Chief Minister Nitish Kumar presented a comprehensive overview of the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) government's performance, while also delivering sharp remarks aimed at the opposition. The House simultaneously held a discussion on the Governor's address.

Concluding his speech, CM Nitish turned towards the RJD benches and said, We kept you on the sidelines twice, and we carried out so much work. At that time, you accepted everything I said. He further asserted, When you made mistakes, we left you, but now we will never leave. This is our own place, and we will stay here. But remember the work which has been done by our government. Leader of the Opposition Tejashwi Yadav was notably absent during the Chief Minister's address. Reinforcing his criticism, Nitish Kumar questioned the opposition's performance, saying, Why aren't you working? Others are. If work is done, it helps everyone. The NDA has repeatedly accused previous RJD governments of pushing the state into darkness, a claim Nitish reiterated during the session. The comments prompted an attempted interruption by RJD MLA Bhai Virendra, but CM Nitish continued uninterrupted, emphasising that his government had twice sidelined the opposition and made significant strides in development during the NDA's governance. Highlighting achievements in the health sector, the Chief Minister said that primary health centres—once plagued by extremely low patient turnout—now receive an average of 11,600 patients each month. He announced that the number of medical colleges in the state has doubled, rising from six to 12, with ongoing efforts to establish medical colleges in the remaining 27 districts. Construction, he added, is progressing rapidly.



Madinah-Hyd flight diverted to Ahmedabad after bomb threat

HYDERABAD

A bomb threat forced authorities to divert the IndiGo flight coming to Hyderabad from Saudi Arabia's Madinah to Ahmedabad on Thursday, officials said. The flight 6E58 with 180 passengers and six crew members landed safely at the Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel International Airport in Ahmedabad around 12.30 p.m. The flight was mid-air when IndiGo reportedly received a bomb threat via email. As Ahmedabad was the nearest airport, the authorities diverted the flight there as a precautionary measure. After the landing, Central Industrial Security Force (CISF) personnel, along with local police and bomb disposal squad, conducted a thorough check of the aircraft but did not find anything suspicious.

BRS accuses Cong govt of ₹5 lakh cr land 'scam'

HYDERABAD

Bharat Rashtra Samithi (BRS) working president K. T. Rama Rao on Thursday alleged that the Congress government in Telangana is committing a huge land scam of Rs 5 lakh crore in the name of Hyderabad Industrial Land Transformation Policy.

He claimed that the lands that were once given by the government to industries to create jobs for people are now being given to private individuals. KTR, as the BRS leader is popularly known, led a field-level visit to Jeedimetla industrial area as part of the party's fact-finding mission on Hyderabad Industrial Land Transformation Policy (HILTP). The former minister interacted with workers and urged them to resist the loot by the government. He alleged that the government is giving industrial lands to build apartments, villas and commercial complexes as it does not want industries. KTR, along with other BRS leaders, participated in a rally to protest against HILTP. India's biggest sam! Rs 5 Lakh crores, reads the placard carried by the BRS leader.

He stated that these are not private lands, but lands given by the government to private individuals with the condition that industries should be set up to employ people.

He demanded that people's assets should remain with people. Claiming that while the market price for these lands is Rs 1 lakh per square yard, the government is handing them to private individuals for just Rs 4,000.

He urged the real estate developers not to get cheated with the sale offer by the government and warned that once BRS returns to power, it would take back these lands.

Calling Chief Minister A. Revanth Reddy, a corruption Anaconda, KTR alleged that the Congress leader was conspiring to sell the lands to send the share to Delhi leaders.

Lula urges diplomatic resolution for Venezuela in call with Trump

Lula urged Trump to avoid military action in Venezuela, warning it could destabilise South America and worsen the crisis.

SAO PAULO

President Luiz Inacio Lula da Silva has stressed the need for a peaceful and diplomatic solution to the crisis in Venezuela during a recent phone call with US President Donald Trump. According to reports first published by O Estado de S. Paulo and later confirmed by Brasil 247, Lula expressed strong concern over the possibility of US military intervention in the neighbouring country.

Lula reportedly warned Trump that any military step could lead to serious "collateral effects" across South America. He said such an action could worsen the humanitarian situation in Venezuela, trigger a larger flow of migrants, and even increase the risk of civil conflict. He also stressed that these problems would not remain within Venezuela's borders and could quickly spread to Brazil, Colombia, and other nearby countries, raising regional tensions.

The report says Lula repeated his belief that only dialogue and negotiation can bring lasting peace to Venezuela. Trump, however, did not clearly state his plans, keeping open the option of military action or continued talks with President Nicolas Maduro's government.

Officials close to Lula believe that any US intervention would face strong resistance from major global powers. They noted that the European Union, Russia, and China are unlikely to support such a move. Within the Brazilian government, many think Washington's interest in Venezuela is closely tied to the country's large oil reserves.

During the call, Lula also briefed Trump for the first time on Brazil's recent efforts against organised crime. He highlighted Federal Police actions aimed at weakening the financial networks of groups like the Carbono Oculto faction. Trump reportedly expressed interest in deeper cooperation.

The 40-minute conversation took place while Lula was visiting the Abreu e Lima refinery in Pernambuco. He welcomed the US move to remove a 40% surcharge on some Brazilian exports but urged faster progress on tariff-reduction talks. Although Trump was polite, he offered no firm commitments.

Taliban accuses Pak of imposing unwanted projs on Afghan

KABUL

Afghanistan's Foreign Minister Amir Khan Muttaqi has accused Pakistan of trying to impose "mysterious projects" on the country and pressuring the Taliban administration through economic and political tactics. Speaking at a gathering in Kabul, he said Pakistan hoped Afghans would turn against the Taliban government after Islamabad shut key trade routes.

However, he said that Pakistan's border closures did not create shortages, as other regional partners continued supplying essential goods. He added that Pakistan has long-standing disputes with almost all its neighbours and is now pushing Afghanistan with "unrealistic and unacceptable" security demands.

Muttaqi said the Taliban has already taken steps to address Pakistan's concerns over the past four years by relocating Waziristani families from border areas and deploying additional forces. He argued that Pakistan expects the Taliban to "deliver everything," while it struggles with its own internal security issues.

He also criticised Pakistan's political system, saying divided decision-making between civilian leaders and the military makes talks inconsistent. Defending Afghanistan's growing ties with India, he said relations with New Delhi were legitimate for a sovereign nation.

Amid rising border tensions, the Taliban recently showcased hundreds of newly trained commandos, saying they are ready to defend Afghanistan's territory.

India continues humanitarian support through medical supplies and relief assistance

India sends vital vaccines and aid to Afghanistan

KABUL

India has strengthened its ongoing humanitarian efforts in Afghanistan by delivering 63,734 doses of Influenza and Meningitis vaccines to Kabul on Thursday. The Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) announced the delivery on X, reaffirming India's commitment to supporting Afghanistan's public health needs.

This latest shipment comes soon after India delivered 73 tonnes of life-saving medicines, vaccines and essential supplements on November 28. The MEA said these supplies were meant to help meet urgent healthcare demands in Afghanistan. External Affairs Ministry spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal posted that India's support for the Afghan people "continues unwaveringly."

India has also been engaging diplomatically to improve cooperation between the two countries. On November 20, External Affairs Minister S. Jaishankar met Afghanistan's Industry and Commerce Minister Alhaj Nooruddin Azizi in New Delhi. Both leaders discussed ways to boost trade, connectivity and people-to-people ties. Jaishankar reaffirmed that India remains committed to the development and welfare of Afghans.

Earlier in the month, on November 3, India sent food supplies to families affected by a powerful 6.3-magnitude earthquake that struck Balkh, Samangan and Baghlan provinces. More than 20 people were killed and hundreds injured in the disaster. The MEA said India was providing this help to support those recovering from the tragedy.

Following the quake, Jaishankar spoke with Afghanistan's acting Foreign Minister Mawlawi Amir Khan Muttaqi to offer condolences. He said Indian relief materials were already being handed over and that more medical supplies would reach soon. Jaishankar later wrote that both sides also discussed progress in their bilateral ties and welcomed growing people-to-people engagement between India and Afghanistan.

Former President Yoon faces new perjury charges

SEOUL

South Korea's special counsel team announced on Thursday that former President Yoon Suk Yeol has been additionally indicted on charges of perjury. The team said Yoon gave false testimony during the insurrection trial of former Prime Minister Han Duck-soo.

Yoon is already standing trial for insurrection and other charges linked to his failed attempt to impose martial law last December. Investigators say he falsely suggested that the Cabinet meeting he held before declaring martial law had been planned before Han advised it. Assistant special counsel Park Ji-young said the new perjury charge was filed based on Yoon's statements during Han's trial.

During last month's hearing, Yoon was asked whether Han had proposed holding a Cabinet meeting to make the martial law declaration appear legitimate. Yoon objected to the question and said, "Cabinet members are not dolls who came to create an outward appearance." However, the special counsel team believes Yoon originally had no intention of calling a Cabinet meeting and only agreed after Han insisted it would add credibility.

In a separate case, prosecutors have demanded a 15-year prison sentence for former first lady Kim Keon Hee. She was indicted in August on charges including corruption, bribery and violations of the Capital Market Act and Political Funds Act. Kim is accused of working with the former head of Deutsch Motors and another associate to manipulate the company's stock between 2010 and 2012, earning 810 million won in illegal profits. For this charge alone, the team requested 11 years in prison, a fine of 2 billion won and forfeiture of 811 million won.

Kim is also accused of accepting free opinion polls worth 270 million won with her husband ahead of the 2022 presidential election in exchange for helping secure a political nomination.

Iran seeks stronger trade ties with neighbours

TEHRAN

Iranian Foreign Minister Seyyed Abbas Araghchi has said that his ministry is ready to expand Iran's economic and trade relations, especially with neighbouring countries. Local media reported on Thursday that Araghchi made these remarks during a meeting with a group of lawmakers, where he discussed regional and global developments and highlighted ongoing diplomatic efforts to protect Iran's national interests.

Araghchi underlined the need for strong cooperation between Iran's Foreign Ministry and the Parliament to help the country meet its diplomatic goals. He said this coordination is important for strengthening Iran's position in the region.

Earlier this week, Araghchi also spoke about the Foreign Ministry's work to defend the rights and interests of Iran, he said maintaining national unity is essential for overcoming threats from what he called Iran's enemies.

He noted that Iran's response to attacks by Israel and the United States marked an important moment in the country's recent history. He praised the determination of the Iranian people in resisting foreign pressure and refusing what he called "illegitimate and excessive" demands.

Iran's Foreign Minister says the country is ready to deepen economic and trade ties with neighbouring nations while stressing unity, national strength, and coordinated foreign policy efforts

Araghchi said Iran's recent achievements were made possible by the leadership of the Leader of the Revolution, the commitment of the Armed Forces, and the unity of the people. He described these as key factors in achieving what he called a historic victory for the nation.

The minister also stressed the importance of strengthening Iran's overall national power. He highlighted the need to improve defence capabilities, support social unity, and tackle economic challenges. Araghchi said the government is working to ease the country's economic problems and improve stability for its citizens.

Strong earthquake in Xinjiang highlights China's seismic vulnerability

XINJIANG

A strong earthquake measuring 6.2 on the Richter scale shook China's Xinjiang region on Thursday, the National Center for Seismology (NCS) reported. The quake struck at a shallow depth of 10 km, increasing the likelihood of aftershocks and stronger surface shaking. The NCS posted details on X, noting the tremor occurred at 13:14:07 IST at latitude 41.10 N and longitude 78.61 E.

Just two days earlier, on December 2, the region experienced another earthquake of magnitude 3.9, also at a depth of 10 km. Shallow quakes like these typically cause more damage because seismic waves reach the surface quickly and with greater intensity.

China's geography makes it one of the world's most earthquake-prone countries, positioned between the circum-Pacific and circum-Indian seismic belts. The movement of the Pacific, Indian and Philippine plates has created extensive fracture zones across the region.

Since the early 20th century, China has recorded more than 800 earthquakes of magnitude 6 or higher. Nearly all provinces and autonomous regions have been struck at some point, except Guizhou, Zhejiang and Hong Kong. According to the Science Museums of China, more than 5,50,000 people have died in earthquakes in China since 1900, representing over half of global earthquake casualties during that period.

Since 1949, the country has experienced more than 100 destructive quakes, with East China alone witnessing 14 major events. These disasters have killed more than 2,70,000 people and destroyed over 7 million rooms across 300,000 square kilometres.

Experts warn that China's vulnerability to earthquakes and other natural disasters remains a major challenge, even during stable times.

EASING ALCOHOL BAN

Thailand eases longstanding afternoon alcohol ban

BANGKOK

Thailand has paused its decades-old afternoon alcohol ban, raising questions about why the rule existed in the first place. The government has eased the restriction for 180 days to help boost tourism during the peak travel season.

The ban began in 1972, when Thailand blocked alcohol sales between 2 pm and 5 pm. The rule was not originally meant for tourists but for government employees. Officials at the time feared that workers might leave their offices for mid-day drinks, lowering productivity. To prevent this, the government restricted legal alcohol sales during those hours, and the policy remained in place for more than 50 years.

But what made sense in the 1970s became confusing for modern travellers. Thailand, known for its beaches, lively nightlife and party spots, also had one of the strictest daytime alcohol rules in Asia. Many tourists were surprised when bars and shops suddenly stopped selling alcohol in the afternoon. Some even faced fines of up to 10,000 baht for breaking the rule.

Now, with tourism still recovering and the festive season approaching, the government has temporarily relaxed the rule. For the next six months, alcohol can be sold from 11 am to midnight while a committee reviews the effects of the change.

Prime Minister Anutin Charnvirakul, who took office in September, has made tourism revival a major goal. Officials say the workplace reasons behind the old rule no longer apply in today's environment. Deputy Prime Minister Sophon Saram recently remarked, "In the past, the fear was that state employees would sneak out to drink. Times have changed."

New cess on 'pan masala' to fund health and security programs

The Minister said GST taxes consumption, so a new 40% cess is planned as compensation ends, leaving some pan masala untaxed

NEW DELHI

Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Thursday moved the Health Security se National Security Cess Bill, 2025 in the Lok Sabha for consideration and passing. She said the Bill aims to raise stable funds for two key areas—public health and national security.

Explaining the reason behind the proposal, the Minister noted that the GST system taxes consumption, not production. Products like pan masala are taxed at 28 per cent plus compensation cess under GST, but since the compensation cess is ending, the government plans to shift this portion into a new 40 per cent cess. She added that many varieties of pan masala still fall outside the tax net because GST does not consider production capacity.

Sitharaman explained that excise duty taxes production, which is why cigarettes are under excise. However, pan masala is not classified as an excisable product, so it cannot be taxed the same way. The new Bill introduces a production-based cess to address this gap and discourage the use of harmful goods.

She stressed that the cess will apply only to demerit goods and not essential items. The revenue will support national security needs and help address the heavy health burden caused by such products.

Congress MP Varun Chaudhury suggested sending the Bill to a Select Committee, pointing out that its title appears bilingual. The Bill, introduced on December 1, proposes a cess on products like pan masala, with rates ranging from Rs 1.01 crore to Rs 25.47 crore per machine per month. Penalties include fines and imprisonment for serious fraud.

A structured appeals process and strict inspection powers are included. The Bill aims to provide predictable resources for public health and security.

Government reaffirms dignity for honest taxpayers

NEW DELHI

Chaudhary said the government aims to deter illegal trade, praising DRI's role since 1957 in protecting economic borders amid challenges, shifts, and organized crime networks

The government has reiterated its commitment to creating a business environment where honest taxpayers can work with dignity and without fear. Union Minister of State for Finance, Pankaj Chaudhary, made this statement during the 68th Founding Day celebrations of the Directorate of Revenue Intelligence (DRI) held in the capital on Thursday.

Chaudhary said the government is determined to make illegal trade through India's land, waterways, or air risky, difficult, and ultimately futile. He praised DRI for its crucial role in safeguarding the nation's economic borders since its formation in 1957. According to him, DRI's dedication has helped the country stay strong in the face of new global challenges, technological changes, and the rise of organised international crime networks.

CBIC Chairman Vivek Chaturvedi also appreciated DRI's professionalism and its importance in supporting fair and legitimate trade across the country. He urged officers to continue using technology, risk-management tools, and international cooperation to further strengthen border security.

Abhai Kumar Srivastav, Director General of DRI, reaffirmed the agency's commitment to the highest ethical standards. He highlighted how DRI teams continue to bust smuggling rackets and stop the flow of illegal funds, which could be used by anti-national groups or criminal organisations.

During the event, DRI released its annual 'Smuggling in India Report 2024–25', which provides insights into smuggling trends, major achievements, upcoming challenges, and suggested policy changes.

The ceremony also saw participation from 30 international delegates from 15 countries attending the 10th Regional Customs Enforcement Meeting, highlighting India's growing collaboration with global enforcement partners in the fight against cross-border crime.

'AI drives growth for India's small businesses'

NEW DELHI

India's small businesses are stepping into 2026 with strong confidence in technology, especially Artificial Intelligence (AI). A new report shows that 83 per cent of India's small business leaders now believe AI is essential for growth. The data, shared by LinkedIn, explains how AI, trust, and strong professional networks are shaping the next phase of entrepreneurship in the country.

The Small Business Work Change India Report highlights a big rise in people choosing to become entrepreneurs. In just one year, the number of LinkedIn members adding "founder" to their profiles has grown by 104 per cent. More than 70 per cent of professionals now say they want to work for themselves, showing a shift toward independent work and business ownership.

AI is becoming deeply connected to daily business activities for small and medium companies. According to the report, 82 per cent of small business leaders feel that AI has made it easier to start and manage a business. Nearly 97 per cent are already using AI tools in different ways. AI learning is also rising. Companies with 11 to 200 employees have increased their AI literacy by 52 per cent, and 81 per cent of small businesses are actively investing in AI skill development.

Experts believe generative AI could add $621 billion in productivity to India, with small businesses contributing almost 30 per cent of that growth. LinkedIn India Country Manager Kumaresh Pattabiraman said the country's small businesses are growing with "extraordinary speed and ambition."

The report also shows that building trust is now more important than ever. More than 60 per cent of small business owners worldwide create their own online content, and over 70 per cent say authenticity matters. Unions with 51% votes gain sole bargaining rights, and a new reskilling fund supports retrenched workers in India

New labour codes promise fairer work system: Brickwork Ratings

NEW DELHI

India's new labour codes are being seen as a major step toward improving worker protection while also reducing the compliance burden for employers. A new report by Brickwork Ratings said these reforms will help build a modern, inclusive, and competitive labour system that supports both worker welfare and business growth.

According to the report, the new laws simplify many administrative procedures through digital filings and single registrations. This helps companies reduce paperwork and easily adjust their workforce when needed. Higher thresholds for retrenchment approvals are expected to make India more investment-friendly.

The codes introduce many worker-centric measures. These include universal minimum wages, equal pay for men and women, and overtime wages at twice the normal rate. Fixed-term employment is now formally recognised, and such employees become eligible for gratuity after one year. The reforms also introduce work-from-home provisions, a 60-day strike notice rule, and a raised retrenchment approval limit—from 100 to 300 workers—under the Industrial Relations Code.

Trade unions receiving 51 per cent of votes will now have exclusive negotiating rights. The government has also created a re-skilling fund to support workers who lose jobs due to retrenchment.

One of the most important changes comes under the Code on Social Security, 2020. It expands EPFO, ESI, and gratuity benefits to gig and platform workers, giving them long-awaited formal recognition. National social security coverage is expected to rise to over 64 per cent of the workforce in 2025, compared to just 19 per cent a decade ago.

The four unified labour codes—covering wages, social security, industrial relations, and occupational safety—replace 29 older labour laws and officially came into effect on November 21.

Domestic investors drive strong market momentum

MUMBAI

Domestic institutional investors (DIIs) have poured a massive $81.3 billion into Indian stock markets so far in 2025, surpassing the total inflows recorded in all of 2024. A new report by Motilal Oswal Financial Services Ltd. (MOFSL) revealed that this strong domestic buying came even as foreign institutional investors (FIIs) pulled out $16.2 billion during the same period.

According to the report, company earnings tracked by MOFSL grew 12 per cent year-on-year in Q2 FY26. However, Nifty earnings rose only 2 per cent, marking the sixth consecutive quarter of single-digit profit growth. Mid-cap and small-cap companies delivered much stronger results, with Nifty

Midcap-150 profits rising 27 per cent and Nifty Smallcap-250 profits up 37 per cent.

Domestic investors continued their steady buying, adding $8.7 billion in November alone — their 28th straight month of positive inflows. Meanwhile, foreign investor activity remained nearly flat for the month. The report added that about 60 per cent of Nifty companies closed November with gains. Technology, PSU banks, and healthcare sectors showed solid month-on-month growth, while PSBs, auto, and metals dominated performance for the year so far.

Despite pressure on India's manufacturing sector due to US tariffs, domestic demand remained strong. A GST-driven boost in consumption during Q2 and higher government spending in Q3 are expected to help offset weak export figures.

The report said India's forex reserves stayed high at $688 billion, with the rupee trading at Rs 89.5 per US dollar. Market activity remained firm, with daily cash volumes rising 6 per cent month-on-month and F&O volumes touching their second-highest level of the year.

India's total market capitalisation stands at $5.3 trillion, slightly lower than its September 2024 peak, as global markets outperformed.

Report says India's growth outlook remains strong through 2027

NEW DELHI

India's economy is expected to see steady and strong growth over the next three years, according to a new report released by S&P Global Ratings. The study says India's GDP will grow 6.7 per cent in 2026, rise to 7 per cent in 2027, and settle at 6.8 per cent in 2028. The report highlights that stable inflation and strong job markets will help support consumer spending, especially in developed countries.

Global economic growth is also expected to remain stable at 3.2 per cent in both 2026 and 2027. The report explains that while growth may slow down in the United States and China, the eurozone is showing signs of recovery. Emerging markets (EMs), including India, are expected to remain resilient and will continue driving global expansion.

A major reason for this improved global outlook is the better-than-expected outcome of US tariff policies. The actual tariff impact turned out to be lower than feared, helping calm earlier worries. At the same time, recent easing of tensions between the US and China has supported market confidence.

S&P Global Ratings says emerging markets will lead world growth in 2026, contributing nearly two-thirds of global GDP expansion. EMs are expected to grow at 4.4 per cent, compared to just 1.5 per cent in advanced economies.

Positive factors such as the global AI investment boom, easy financial conditions, and lower oil prices are also helping strengthen growth. However, the report warns that too much investment in data centres may cause financial stress later.

Strong domestic demand, supported by stable inflation and favourable prices of food and energy, is expected to drive most of the growth in emerging markets next year, the report added.

Rupee slide not sign of economic weakness: Report

NEW DELHI

A new SBI Research report has said that the recent fall of the Indian rupee past the 90-per-dollar mark is not a sign of weakness in the country's economy. The study explained that the rupee's slide is mainly due to global uncertainty, delays in the India-US trade deal, and foreign portfolio investors pulling money out of Indian markets. It added that none of these factors reflect any real drop in India's economic strength.

The report noted three major reasons for the rupee's current pressure. The first is the lack of clarity on the India-US trade agreement. The second is the recent foreign outflow from Indian shares after two strong years of inflows. The third is the Reserve Bank of India's decision to avoid too much intervention in the currency market, allowing natural movement.

SBI Research also pointed out that the offshore non-deliverable forward (NDF) market has become more active in recent weeks, while the US dollar index is gaining strength. Both developments are adding short-term pressure on the rupee.

Concerns that India's trade deficit is pushing the currency down are overstated, the report said. Between April and October, India's goods and services deficit stood at $78 billion, only slightly higher than $70 billion during the same period last year.

Since April 2, when the US announced steep tariff hikes on many countries, the Indian rupee has fallen by about 5.5 per cent — more than most large global currencies. India faces a 50 per cent US tariff, which is higher than those imposed on China, Vietnam, Indonesia, and Japan.

The report added that nearly $45 billion worth of Indian exports, mainly labour-heavy items, may be affected by the higher tariffs.

New Zealand build massive lead with strong batting

With New Zealand over 400 ahead, Rachin and Latham added 279 runs before both fell, leaving hosts scoring heavily

CHRISTCHURCH

New Zealand took full control of the first Test against the West Indies after powerful centuries from Rachin Ravindra and Tom Latham on Day 3 at Hagley Oval. The hosts ended the day at 417/4, carrying a huge 481-run lead and putting the visitors under enormous pressure. New Zealand started the morning at 32/0, already ahead by 96 runs. Latham and Devon Conway stretched their stand to 84 before Conway was caught at deep point off Ojay Shields. Shields also removed Kane Williamson for 9, leaving New Zealand at 100/2. From there, the West Indies struggled to find any success as Rachin and Latham took charge.

Rachin reached a busy half-century from 52 balls, while Latham brought up his 14th Test century just before Tea. By then, the pair had added over 130 runs at a fast pace. The lead crossed 300 soon after the break, with Rachin hitting three early boundaries to reach his hundred from 107 balls. As the second new ball arrived, New Zealand were already more than 400 ahead. Rachin passed Latham's score, and their stand grew to 279 runs before Kemar Roach dismissed Latham with an inswinger. Rachin later fell to a sharp yorker from Shields, but the hosts still scored heavily.

New Zealand added 184 runs in the final session alone, leaving the West Indies with a mountain to climb. The visitors will need a remarkable effort to stay alive in the match after falling behind by such a large margin.

NEW ZEALAND
231 & 417/4 (Rachin Ravindra 176, Tom Latham 145; Kemar Roach 2-61) lead

Late bloomer Shintomon breaks KIUG hurdles record

JAIPUR

The 23-year-old broke the KIUG Meet Record at Jaipur's Sawai Mansingh Stadium with 14.32 seconds, winning gold as competitors finished mere thousandths of a second behind.

CB Shintomon's inspiring journey reached a high point as he broke the men's 110m hurdles record at the Khelo India University Games 2025. What makes his achievement remarkable is that he discovered athletics only four years ago. Until 2021, he had never stepped on a synthetic track. His days were filled with studies, school football games, and occasional labour in cardamom plantations near his home in Erattayar, Kerala.

His life changed when Kerala Sports Council Academy coach Baiju Joseph noticed him during a football match. Impressed by his natural strength, Baiju encouraged him to try athletics. After testing events like the 400m and high jump, Shintomon finally found his true fit in the 110m hurdles. His progress since then has been fast and impressive.

The 23-year-old stunned the crowd at Jaipur's Sawai Mansingh Stadium by clocking 14.32 seconds, breaking the KIUG Meet Record and winning gold for Mahatma Gandhi University. The race was intense, with Shivaji University's Vikas Ananda Khodke and University of Calicut's Rahil Sakeer VP finishing only thousandths of a second behind him. For Shintomon, the victory means more than a medal. Growing up in a family with no sports background, he received little exposure or support. His father, a painter earning daily wages, still knows only a little about his sporting success. Shintomon says the belief shown by his coach and college kept him going. Though proud of his record-breaking run, he remains focused on improving. He aims to beat Tejas Shirse's national record of 13.41 seconds and hopes to represent India internationally. Now training under Juilius J Manayani at St. Dominic's College, he is preparing for a busy 2026 season, motivated to push his limits even further.

Inspiring journeys of two rising Kho Kho stars

BENGALURU

Kho Kho champion Gowtham MK stood proudly as he received the Karnataka Kreeda Ratna Award, but his thoughts went back to the days when his father could give him only Rs 10 as weekly pocket money. The 27-year-old athlete, son of an auto-rickshaw driver, has risen through years of struggle and hard work to reach this special moment.

Gowtham's journey began in the 4th standard when his school physical training teacher, Mahadesh, noticed his talent. His father once dreamed of sending him to a private school, but financial challenges forced a change. Encouraged by his teacher, Gowtham joined sports at his government school and soon found his passion for Kho Kho. After the 8th standard, the Young Pioneers Sports Club supported both his training and education, helping him grow into a strong competitor. Over the years, Gowtham has played more than 20 national-level tournaments and represented India in the 4th Asian Kho Kho Championship and the first Kho Kho World Cup, winning gold in both events. His performance in the 2018 India-Nepal Test series also helped him secure a government job in the Postal Department. Today, he proudly tells his father that he no longer needs to drive the auto-rickshaw, as Gowtham can support the family. Another remarkable story comes from Kuruburu village in Mysuru district, where 22-year-old Chaithra B. also received the Kreeda Ratna Award. Coming from a humble farming family, she faced hardship when her father survived a venomous snakebite after multiple surgeries. Though she once considered quitting Kho Kho, she stayed determined to uplift her family. Chaithra has played in over two dozen championships and shined in the first Kho Kho World Cup, winning the best player award. Both athletes symbolise how passion and perseverance can transform lives, inspiring many young players across Karnataka.

Hardik's return triggers bigger venue, stronger security

HYDERABAD

Hardik Pandya's return to cricket has created such huge excitement among fans that the Baroda–Gujarat Syed Mushtaq Ali Trophy match had to be moved to a larger stadium. The game, first planned at the smaller Gymkhana Ground, was shifted to the Rajiv Gandhi International Stadium, which is better prepared for big crowds and stronger security needs.

Officials said the change became necessary after huge groups of fans gathered near team hotels, practice areas, and ticket counters. In Baroda's last match against Punjab, play was stopped many times because fans ran onto the field to meet Hardik. Organisers said all the buzz was mainly for the star all-rounder, whose popularity has grown even more after his long break from the sport. One senior official said that interest in Hardik crossed all expectations, with crowd numbers and enquiries rising far beyond normal domestic cricket levels. Moving the match, they said, was the only way to maintain safety and smooth operations. Hardik returned to action on Tuesday after months of recovery and impressed immediately by scoring an unbeaten 77 off 42 balls, helping Baroda chase 223 against Punjab. He had been away from the game since suffering an injury during the Asia Cup Super Fours match against Sri Lanka, which ruled him out of several international series.

Root hits century, guides England past 300 runs

BRISBANE

England opener Joe Root scored his maiden Test century on Australian soil to guide the visitors past the 300-run mark on Day 1 of the second Ashes Test at the Gabba, Brisbane. England finished at 325/9 in 74 overs, with Root unbeaten on 135 off 202 balls, and Jofra Archer on 32 off 26 balls. England recovered from early setbacks after Ben Duckett and Ollie Pope were dismissed cheaply.

Zak Crawley (76*) and Root steadied the innings with an unbeaten 93-run partnership before stumps. England crossed 200 when captain Ben Stokes played a crisp off-drive to Mitchell Starc. Stokes departed for 19 off 49 balls, caught off a direct hit by Josh Inglis, followed by Jamie Smith falling for a duck to Starc. Root survived a DRS LBW review off Scott Boland in the 52nd over and moved into the nervous 90s with boundaries off Brendan Doggett. Mitchell Starc removed Will Jacks for 19, but Root reached his 40th Test century in 181 deliveries in the 66th over off Boland. Root became the second English player, after Maurice Leyland, to score a century on Day 1 at the Gabba. Starc completed a five-wicket haul after dismissing Gus Atkinson. Root and Archer attacked the Australian attack late, putting on an unbeaten 61-run stand for the final wicket—the highest 10th-wicket partnership in a day-night Test, surpassing 59 runs by Tom Blundell and Blair Tickner in 2023.

BRIEF SCORES
England 325/9 (Joe Root 135*, Zak Crawley 76*; Mitchell Starc 6/71) vs Australia.

Dybantsa, Keita lead BYU big win over California

SALT LAKE CITY

AJ Dybantsa and Keba Keita each scored 22 points as No. 9 BYU cruised to a 91-60 victory over California Baptist. Keita also grabbed 14 rebounds, while Robert Wright III contributed 15 points and 11 assists, helping the Cougars (7-1) claim their fourth straight neutral-site win, though the game was played close to their campus.

BYU shot 55% from the field and forced 14 turnovers, converting them into 15 points. The Cougars dominated inside, outscoring Cal Baptist 48-28 in the paint. Martel Williams led the Lancers with 12 points, five rebounds, and five assists, but slowing down Dybantsa and Keita proved impossible. The duo combined for 28 points by halftime, sparking runs that put BYU firmly in control.

A key 10-0 spurt, ignited by back-to-back baskets from Keita and Dybantsa, gave the Cougars a 14-5 lead. Cal Baptist briefly narrowed the gap, but BYU's offense heated up again. Dybantsa and Keita scored five baskets during a 19-5 run that extended the lead to 40-21 with just over two minutes left in the first half. The Cougars held the Lancers to just two baskets over a nine-minute stretch while forcing six turnovers.

BYU continued its offensive surge in the second half, making 10 consecutive shots, including back-to-back baskets from Dybantsa, expanding the lead to 70-39 with nearly 12 minutes remaining.

BYU will face Clemson next Tuesday in the Jimmy V Classic in New York City. California Baptist visits Utah on Saturday, seeking to rebound from the loss.

Starc sets historic record, surpasses Wasim Akram

BRISBANE

Australian fast bowler Mitchell Starc created history on Thursday by becoming the most successful left-arm fast bowler in Test cricket. The 35-year-old achieved the milestone on Day 1 of the second Ashes Test in Brisbane when he dismissed England's Harry Brook for 31, caught by Steve Smith. This wicket took Starc to 415 Test scalps, pushing him past Pakistan legend Wasim Akram's long-standing record of 414 wickets.

Starc reached this feat at the same ground where he made his Test debut in 2011. He is also one of only three bowlers, along with Nathan Lyon and Ravichandran Ashwin, to take over 350 Test wickets since 2015. Akram warmly congratulated Starc, calling him "Super Starc" and praising his hard work in a post on X. Starc crossed the record in his 102nd Test, two fewer than Akram's 104. Just last week in Perth, he delivered a brilliant 7-58 spell and became the 21st bowler — and 13th Australian — to take 100 Ashes wickets. In the current Ashes squads, only Lyon and Starc hold over 100 wickets in the rivalry. Now standing 16th on the all-time wicket-taker list, Starc could soon overtake Harbhajan Singh and Shaun Pollock. He may even challenge Sir Richard Hadlee's 431 wickets during this series.

Olympic flame officially begins journey to Italy

The Olympic flame will tour Italy for 63 days, covering 12,000 km with 10,000 torchbearers before Feb 6

ATHENS

The Olympic flame for the Milan Cortina Winter Games was handed to the Italian organizers on Thursday at the historic Panathenaic Stadium in Athens, the same place where the first modern Olympics were held nearly 130 years ago. The ceremony, though shortened due to forecasts of heavy rain, still drew a few determined spectators who enjoyed songs by Greek and Italian performers as sunlight briefly broke through dark clouds.

The flame will now travel to Italy for a 63-day relay covering 12,000 kilometers across all 110 Italian provinces. More than 10,000 torchbearers have been arranged to guide the flame before it reaches Milan's San Siro Stadium for the opening ceremony on February 6. This marks the first time in 20 years that Italy will host the Olympic flame.

Milan Cortina organizing committee president Giovanni Malago accepted the flame with pride, saying the moment reminded him of the honor of carrying such a meaningful symbol home. Earlier in the day, the flame was brought from the Acropolis, where it had burned overnight beside the ancient Parthenon temple.

Greek water polo player Elena Xenaki carried the flame into the stadium and lit a cauldron along with members of the Greece women's national water polo team. The flame itself was originally lit on November 26 in Ancient Olympia using a concave mirror to focus the sun's rays — a tradition practiced since the 1936 Games. During the ceremony, Greece's Olympic Committee president Isidoros Kouvelos handed the flame to Malago, reminding everyone that while the Olympics cannot change the world entirely, they can show what respect and unity look like.

Italy's Winter Games will include 116 medal events, the debut of ski mountaineering, the return of NHL players in ice hockey and increased participation of women athletes. A separate flame for the Winter Paralympics will be lit in England on February 24.

Bayern edge Union in dramatic five-goal cup clash

BERLIN

Bayern Munich reached the DFB Cup quarterfinals after surviving a tense 3-2 battle against Union Berlin in a match filled with own goals, penalties, and strong late pressure from the home side.

Union started with energy, backed by loud home supporters, but Bayern struck first from a corner when Ilyas Ansah accidentally turned a Joshua Kimmich delivery into his own net. Soon after, another Kimmich set piece helped Bayern double their lead, with Harry Kane heading in from close range.

Union slowly fought back. A VAR review gave them hope when Jonathan Tah was judged to have handled the ball in the box. Leopold Querfeld stepped up and sent Manuel Neuer the wrong way to make it 2-1. But deep into first-half stoppage time, Union's troubles from dead-ball situations returned. Under pressure, Diogo Leite mishit a clearance that looped over his own goalkeeper, giving Bayern a 3-1 lead at the break.

The second half brought more drama. Bayern lost Aleksandar Pavlovic to injury, and Union used the moment to push forward. Kane was penalised for a foul in the box, allowing Querfeld to score his second penalty, cutting the gap to 3-2 and firing up the crowd.

Union attacked nonstop in the final half hour, forcing Bayern deeper and testing Neuer several times.

Arsenal extend lead as Leeds shock Chelsea

LONDON

Arsenal strengthened their position at the top of the Premier League with a solid 2-0 win over Brentford, while Leeds United delivered the biggest surprise of the week by beating Chelsea 3-1 at Elland Road.

Arsenal struck early when Mikel Merino scored with a sharp header in the 11th minute. Brentford struggled throughout the match and failed to register a single shot on target.

The game opened up late, allowing Bukayo Saka to seal the result in stoppage time after running onto Merino's accurate pass.

The win extended Arsenal's unbeaten run to 18 matches in all competitions and gave them a five-point lead at the top. Leeds impressed their home crowd with a spirited 3-1 victory over Chelsea. First-half strikes from Jaka Bijol and Ao Tanaka put them firmly in control.

Pedro Neto pulled one back for Chelsea early in the second half, but Dominic Calvert-Lewin restored Leeds' cushion in the 72nd minute to complete a memorable win.

Leeds thrilled their home fans with a 3-1 win over Chelsea, with Bijol and Tanaka scoring early, Neto replying, and Calvert-Lewin sealing the victory.

Aston Villa climbed to third place after a thrilling 4-3 comeback win over Brighton. Brighton led 2-0 through Jan Paul van Hecke and a Pau Torres own goal, but Ollie Watkins began the fightback before halftime. Amadou Onana and Donyell Malen pushed Villa ahead 4-2, and although Van Hecke scored again late on, it was not enough.

Liverpool were held 1-1 at home by Sunderland, with Florian Wirtz rescuing a point through a deflected shot after Chemsdine Talbi had given Sunderland the lead. Crystal Palace claimed a narrow 1-0 win over Burnley, who have now lost five straight games.

KM Asif sparks Kerala shock win over Mumbai

THIRUVANANTHAPURAM

Scoreboard:
Kerala 178/5 (Samson 46, Vinod 43) beat Mumbai 163 all out (Khan 52, Rahane 32; Asif 5/24) by 15 runs.

Kerala pulled off a stunning 15-run victory over defending champions Mumbai in a Group A Syed Mushtaq Ali Trophy (SMAT) match on Thursday, thanks to a brilliant five-wicket haul by pacer KM Asif. The 32-year-old has been in fine form this season, claiming 13 wickets at this venue alone.

Kerala posted a competitive 178 for 5 in their 20 overs. Opener Sanju Samson, recently transferred from Rajasthan Royals to Lucknow Super Kings, led the charge with a 28-ball 46, hitting eight boundaries and a six. Vishnu Vinod contributed a patient 40-ball 43, while Mohammed Azharuddeen's quick 32 helped Kerala set a defendable total.

Mumbai, chasing 179, looked solid early with Ajinkya Rahane scoring 32 off 18 balls and Sarfaraz Khan making 52. A 80-run second-wicket stand with Suryakumar Yadav kept hopes alive. However, KM Asif's fiery spell turned the match around, as he dismissed key batters including Sairaj Patil, Suryakumar Yadav, and Ishan Kishan. He finished with figures of 5 for 24, supported by Vignesh Puthur's 2 for 31, to leave Mumbai reeling at 149 for 7.

Kerala eventually bowled out the visitors for 163 in 19.4 overs.

This was Mumbai's first loss in five games, while Kerala moved to third in the five-team pool with 12 points. Despite the defeat, Mumbai remain at the top with 16 points.

The win highlights Kerala's fighting spirit and Asif's match-winning ability, giving the team a major boost in the SMAT standings.

Jenkins hurt by NASCAR 'take-it-or-leave-it' deal

CHARLOTTE

Front Row Motorsports owner Bob Jenkins testified Wednesday that he felt "honestly very hurt" by NASCAR's last-minute "take-it-or-leave-it" charter agreement, which arrived with just hours to sign a 112-page document. The federal antitrust trial also involves 23XI Motorsports, co-owned by Michael Jordan and Denny Hamlin, challenging NASCAR's charter system.

Jenkins said the offer came at 6 p.m. on a Friday with a midnight deadline, leaving little time for review. "No attorney on the East Coast was available to read a 112-page document," he noted. Jenkins requested an extension, but NASCAR Commissioner Steve Phelps clarified it was only for review, saying, "Negotiations are concluded. We are not re-opening the document."

The agreement, which went into effect this year, ended years of negotiations. Jenkins described it as "insulting" and a step backward, saying NASCAR used pressure tactics as 13 of 15 teams had already signed. He testified the deal made team owners vulnerable despite the charter guaranteeing race entry and a share of revenue.

Jenkins, a lifelong NASCAR fan, emphasized he has never turned a profit running Front Row, estimating losses of $100 million even after winning the Daytona 500 in 2021. He and 23XI contend NASCAR acts as a monopoly, limiting teams' revenue and flexibility.

Ortiz surges, McIlroy struggles at Australian Open

MELBOURNE

Mexican golfer Carlos Ortiz fired a brilliant six-under-par 65 to share the first-round lead with Australia's Elvis Smylie and New Zealand's Ryan Fox at the Australian Open on Thursday, while Rory McIlroy struggled in tricky, blustery conditions at Royal Melbourne.

Ortiz's round featured six birdies, two bogeys, and a spectacular eagle on the 17th hole, giving him momentum late in the day. "You had to respect the golf course and I think I did a great job," he said. "We planned it, stayed smart, hit greens, and made some good putts." Smylie, 23, thrilled the home crowd with seven birdies against a single bogey, showcasing creativity and careful shot placement in challenging winds. Fox matched the leaders with eight birdies and two bogeys, keeping the early leaderboard tightly packed. Denmark's Rasmus Neergaard-Petersen (67) joined France's Clement Charmasson and Scotland's Cameron Adam two strokes back, also eyeing the top spot. McIlroy, a five-time major champion and 2013 Australian Open winner, could not handle the wind as he carded one-over 72. Despite five birdies, six bogeys—including mistakes at the first, fourth, seventh, 11th, 12th, and 16th—left him off the pace. "It was a wonderful atmosphere," McIlroy said. "Conditions were tricky, and I need to putt better. I made some birdies but also too many mistakes. Hopefully, it's better in the next rounds."

LOCKDOWN
Release Postponed Again After Cyclone Disruption in Chennai

Anupama Parameswaran's Lockdown, a woman-centric drama inspired by true events, has received a U/A censor certificate but has been delayed for the second time. Originally scheduled for December 5, the release was cancelled after Cyclone Ditwah severely impacted Chennai, flooding several areas and disrupting normal life. The makers said the postponement was to ensure the safety of audiences, theatre staff, and distribution partners. A new release date is yet to be announced.

Directed by AR Jeeva, Lockdown earned praise through its trailer for its intense depiction of women's fear, isolation, and social pressures during the 21-day nationwide COVID lockdown. Anupama plays Anitha, a young woman terrified to return home, navigating unsettling encounters, financial stress, and repeated attempts to reach a doctor stranded alone. Emotional moments—such as her tearful apology to her father—added depth to the trailer's impact.

The film was first set for release in June 2024 before its latest postponement. Lockdown features supporting performances by Charlie, Nirosha and Livingston, with music by N.R. Raghunandan–Siddharth Vipin and cinematography by K.A. Sakthivel. While fans are disappointed by the delay, the team maintains that safety must come first as Chennai recovers from the cyclone.

Cameron Confirms New Avatar Saga After Fire and Ash Finale

James Cameron has revealed that Avatar: Fire and Ash, releasing December 19, will conclude the franchise's first major saga. The filmmaker explained that the first three films were designed as a single, unified narrative arc, making the third installment more of a culmination than a traditional sequel. In an interview with io9, Cameron noted, "I don't think of Fire and Ash as a sequel. I think it was a culmination of a saga." He added that the story direction for all three films was embedded in the franchise's original blueprint. Viewing the upcoming movie as the "third act," he said, offers a healthier perspective on the long-term storytelling approach.

A massive set featuring a monumental sacred door—crafted by production designer Ashok Kumar—forms the centerpiece of the sequence, echoing the grandeur of ancient temple architecture. To elevate the action, the makers have enlisted acclaimed Thai stunt master Kecha Khamphakdee.

The film includes a strong ensemble cast with Jagapathi Babu, Jayaprakash, Murali Sharma, and B. S. Avinash in key supporting roles. Nagabandham delves into the mysteries of India's ancient Vishnu temples, exploring the sacred ritual of Nagabandham. Bahul Ramesh Praises Love Today as Bold, Innovative Romance

Writer-cinematographer Bahul Ramesh has hailed Pradeep Ranganathan's Love Today as a refreshing and inventive take on modern relationships, far removed from what he calls the "cliched and cheesy" storytelling common in contemporary love dramas. Speaking to Galatta Plus, he said the film's daring look at love influenced by smartphones, social media, and mistrust is what makes it stand out for today's audiences.

Bahul praised Pradeep Ranganathan for boldly taking on the roles of writer, director, and lead actor, calling it a courageous creative decision. He noted that Pradeep's meticulous approach ensured "every single second of the movie counted," resulting in a film packed with unique touches.

He highlighted the innovative montage moments and VFX inserts used during non-dialogue scenes, adding that these choices boosted both humor and pace while appealing to younger viewers who prefer fast, visually engaging storytelling. Love Today, which sparked debate for its unfiltered portrayal of modern romance, became a major commercial success by crossing ₹100 crore worldwide.

Rajinikanth Remembers AVM Saravanan with Heartfelt Tribute

Tamil superstar Rajinikanth paid an emotional homage to veteran producer AVM Saravanan, who passed away on Thursday at 86. Calling him a true gentleman with a pure heart, Rajinikanth said Saravanan stood by him during his most challenging phases.

After offering his final respects, the actor described Saravanan as someone who deeply loved cinema and often fondly recalled his father, "Appachi." Rajinikanth shared the personal bond they nurtured over decades, noting that he acted in nine AVM films, all of which became major successes. He credited Saravanan as a key reason behind their impact.

Reflecting on their collaborations, he highlighted Murattu Kalai in the 1980s and Sivaji in the 2000s—both grand productions. Rajinikanth revealed that Saravanan had even discussed a new project with him in the 2020s, though it did not materialize. Deeply saddened, he extended his condolences to the family.

Saravanan's passing a day after his birthday marks the end of an iconic era in Tamil cinema. As the driving force behind the prestigious AVM banner, he shaped generations of filmmaking and earned widespread admiration. His death cast a pall over the industry, with several production houses cancelling events in tribute. Tamil Nadu Chief Minister M. K. Stalin was among those who paid their respects.
